Jim Rommens

PMI® Keystone Chapter, Administrative Director & Programs Director

I'm privileged to have combined experience in both the project management (PM) and information technology (IT) fields. This experience has led to many opportunities working with professionals as a program and project manager, business analyst, software developer, tester, and trainer. I've been blessed with opportunities to work in academia, specifically at four universities as a part-time adjunct instructor teaching PM and IT courses at graduate, undergraduate and associate levels. I also enjoy volunteering where I've been able to serve in nursing homes, as a tutor, and within PMI® as the Director of Public Relations, Webmaster, and Lehigh Valley Deputy Branch Manager. I am currently serving as the Administrative Director and Programs Director for the PMI® Keystone Chapter.

Why did you join the PMI® Keystone Chapter?

I saw joining the Chapter as an opportunity to network with others who also love the field of project management. Joining has allowed me to follow my passions and use my skills to serve on the Board and ultimately serve our project management community.

Why did you decide to volunteer with the PMI® Keystone Chapter?

After volunteering for several years at the branch level, I wanted to have a more comprehensive view of the Chapter. Joining the Board gave me opportunities to meet and work with PM professionals in new regions and serve in a different capacity than I had previously served at the branch level.

What benefits have you received from your involvement with the PMI® Keystone Chapter?

I'm appreciative of the relationships I've built with other project management professionals. I'm also very grateful for the opportunities I've had to serve on the Board in areas that interest me, including administration and supporting our branch managers.

What is one nugget of advice you have for our PMI® Keystone Chapter community?

Use the talents and skills you have to serve others.
